Forensic Program Now Underway

Interscholastic forensics are now underway at Grayling High School. Students in Speech I, Speech II and the American and English Literature classes began writing their original orations about three weeks ago. The Original Oratory program is open to all interested GHHS students.

There are a total of eight separate interscholastic divisions in which students may compete. These are: Declamation, Original Oratory, Boys' Extempore Speech, Girls' Extempore Speech, Radio News Broadcasting, Dramatic Interpretive Reading, Humorous Reading, and Reading Theatre. With the exception of Declamation, which is open only to Freshmen and Sophomores, all other events are open to high school students from ninth to twelfth grades. Contestants must maintain a 'B' average in their school work.

Last spring Grayling High won the District Championship in seven of the eight forensic divisions. Three of the local district winners then went on to win Regional honors at Petoskey and to compete in the State Finals at Ann Arbor. Vicki Wells placed sixth in the state in original oratory; Gail Hunter, ninth in Declamation; and Bob Ashman, thirteenth in Extempore Speech. More than 250 Regional winners competed in the State Finals.

Another forensic event open to all high school students is the annual American Legion Oratory Contest, which is sponsored by the local Legion Post. Last spring the local winner, Bob Ashman, defeated Midland for the District Championship and then lost a 2 to 1 decision to Muskegon in the Zone Championship. Winner of the state contest in American Legion Oratory receives a $500 scholarship, and the winner of the National Contest, a $4,000 four year scholarship to the college of his choice.

ISSUES WARNING TO MOTEL OPERATORS

The owner of a local motel issued a warning to other operators in the area this week after being hit with a severe case of vandalism last weekend.

The operator stated that they did not wish to see other motel owners subjected to what they went through. Last Friday morning, a unit was rented at about 3:15 a. m. to two young men. The one produced a driver's license and both were wearing sweat shirts with the name of a Michigan university on them.

The owners did not check out the car that the pair were supposed to be driving nor did they see them check out. But a later investigation of the unit found the ceiling tile torn out, beds broken, food tramped and ground into the carpeting, paper which had been wet had been thrown all over the room sticking to the walls and woodwork, all light bulbs broken and the entire unit was just one big mess, the motel owner said.

Shaving cream had been used to write obscene words across mirrors and just about every kind of destruction that could be imagined had occurred. The situation is under investigation but in the meantime, this owner says, "Check out the late at night arrivals".

Two-Sunday Accidents Injure Three Persons

Two one car accidents Sunday night resulted in personal injury to three persons. Sleet, rain and snowy conditions were responsible for the mishaps.

The first occurred about 10:05 p. m. on the new section of M-93 near Camp Grayling. It was investigated by Deputy Sheriff John Gallo-way who reported that a car driven by Warren Matfield, 18, of Grayling struck an icy spot on the highway, left the road and rolled over two or three times. Injured besides the driver was Judy Smith, 17, of Grayling. They were taken to Grayling Mercy Hospital for treatment.

The second accident occurred about 11:20 Sunday night 7 miles south of Grayling on US-27. A car driven by Terry James Geha, 19, of Farmington left the road, rolled over and struck a tree. Deputy Sheriff William Gohlack investigated and reported that the 1968 model car was a total loss. The driver suffered very severe head injuries and was still unconscious at Mercy Hospital Tuesday morning.

In the car at the time was William T. McNaughton, 19, of Bloomfield Hills; Larry Carl Roehon, 21, of Detroit; and Rodney Charles Neff, 19, of Lathrup. The three passengers escaped injury except bruises and a shaking up.

Viking Drama Club Seeks Costumes

Period dramatic productions present a problem, namely, that of procuring authentic costumes and stage furniture for the particular eras in which the plays are set. Members of the Viking Drama Club are asking the people of the community to help them in gathering items of clothing and furniture that can be stored in the drama supply rooms at the high school. Old hats, dresses, suits, capes, guns, swords, coaches, love seats, chairs, tables, draperies — in fact, almost anything that is difficult to locate at present would be welcome additions to the drama costume and supply rooms.

People who have items that they would like to donate may have them brought to the Homemaking Department at the High School. Mrs. Jean Compton, homemaking instructor, supervises all costume and make-up work for the drama department. If you wish to have items picked up, please contact the officers of the Viking Drama Club. Miss Janice Beery is the President of the club, and she will make arrangements to have the items brought to the high school.

Only made with much Burgul (cracked wheat) in place of crackers, cereal or bread generally used in American type meat loaf. A very heavy dish, highly seasoned. The fruit and cookies are familiar. Fresh fruit is a common accompaniment to Mid Eastern meals for those of means.

Spreading Impoverishment . . .

It is a good bet that before very long the nation will be told that taxes must go up to meet the cost of the war in Viet Nam. However, when tax increase time comes, Viet Nam will not be entirely to blame. Far from it, a large part of the blame can be laid directly at the door of the expanding cost of a welfare state.

In a penetrating article in The Reader's Digest on federal spending, Henry Hazlitt, the well-known economist and columnist, reports that, "In the cash budget for the fiscal year 1967, total national defense expenditures are estimated at $61.4 billion. Nondefense spending comes to $83.6 billion . . . defense costs in this 11-year period (prior to 1967) have risen only $20.5 billion while nondefense spending has increased by $52 billion." For 1967, nondefense spending is $12 billion more than in 1965, $23 billion more than in 1963, and $32 billion more than in 1961. As Mr. Hazlitt concludes, " . . . don't let anyone tell you that we need to levy $5 billion or so of increased taxes to 'prevent inflation' or to pay for the Viet Nam war. The money is 'needed' only to pay for the extravagant Great Society programs of the last few years."

This may seem like a harsh indictment of humanitarian goals allegedly inspiring much of the current social legislation—until it is realized that the spending policies of the federal government are slowly, but steadily, spreading impoverishment, rather than curing it.

INTERESTING ITEMS OF NEWS GATHERED FROM THE FILES OF THE AVANCE OF 23 YEARS AGO

December 2, 1943

The Northern Michigan Airlines of Petoskey has petitioned the state public service commission for a certificate of public conveyance to provide airline service to northern Michigan communities after the war. The company announced plans to operate twin-engine, six-passenger planes. The new line will serve Traverse City, Grayling, Oscoda, Alpena, Rogers City, Cheboygan, St. Ignace, Pellston, Petoskey, Charlevoix, Frankfort, Manistee, Ludington, Big Rapids and Cadillac.

Sgt. Lewis Rutkowski, son of Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Rutkowski, has arrived home on a 20 day furlough. He has been serving as a radio operator with the 1st Anti-submarine Squadron, B-24 Liberator, in England and Africa. He has been in the service for two and a half years and has seen much front stage action. He was missing in action for several weeks after his crew and plane were crippled by cannon fire from an enemy aircraft and were forced to make a crash landing at sea. He has been cited for exceptional service, among the awards being the Silver Star, Purple Heart and air medal with Oak Leaf Cluster.

With machinery in poor condition and new equipment and repairs limited, it is reported that the County Road commission members have decided that it will be impossible for their crews to plow out anything other than regular county roads.

Mr. and Mrs. Van Smith have been vacationing at their cottage at Lake Margrethe during the hunting season.

Col. Hardin C. Sweeney was a Grayling boy, graduated from Grayling High, and during his high school years worked in the Avalanche office. Following his graduation he attended an art school in Indiana. Being short of funds he enlisted in the U. S. Army and was sent to a fort in the Pacific coast area. By his ambition he rose from a buck private to lieutenant, and in World War I he was captain. He continued in his chosen profession in Uncle Sam's army service. As will be noted from his address he is now full colonel and serving somewhere in Australia. This country is fine, climate is excellent and the local inhabitants lovable people. So far I have managed to see Koala bears and kangaroos in the zoo only. As for myself, I have a detail in the General Staff Corps, which at the moment consists of a diplomatic and supply job. Contact is continuous with the representatives of several governments, supply agencies and shipping concerns. It is rather varied and highly interesting. Physically I am in the best of health with the exception that the hair is quite grey around the edges and becoming rather thin on top. The other morning when I discovered two new young hairs struggling for life on a bald spot it was with feeling of hope and encouragement that I observed the newcomers. If you have not had such an experience, you have missed one of the greatest thrills of a life time. It is spring time here and the roses and flowers are most beautiful. It takes a bit of adjustment to have Christmas in the middle of the summer. However, the Yuletide season carries the same inference as at home. Please accept for yourself and family, also pass to all my friends and acquaintances the most Merry Christmas and the hope for a Happy and Prosperous New Year. Sincerely, Hardin.

LAND USE PLAN CONTROLS POLLUTION

By Willard Bosserman
Co. Ext. Natural Resource Agent

Land use planning implemented by a protective code can be instrumental in controlling water pollution. Nutrients from private sanitary facilities on Lakes and river shores do eventually reach those bodies of water. Planning the use of lands along the shore, permitting building in accordance with the soil type and in relation with the ground water level can reduce the amount of nutrients entering the lakes and streams. On fine textured soils (clay and loam) much larger drainage fields are needed than on sandy soils. Building lots therefore should be large enough to accommodate drainage fields needed to take care of the effluent. This sounds simple enough but too often those who are planning a piece of land do not take soil texture into consideration. The county sanitary code does give a formula for determining size of drainage fields. Protective codes would act as guide lines for those subdividing land, thus preventing over crowding of houses, wells, and septic tanks and cutting down on amount of nutrients going into the water.

A more serious problem is presented on a sandy soil with a high ground water level. Septic tanks and drainage fields work pretty good but the filtered effluent goes directly into the ground water and into the lakes or streams.

Drainage field tile should be at least three feet above the water table. Low sandy lots should be filled with coarse textured soil so that the drainage field is three feet above the water table.

The only real solution to this type of nutrient pollution is a central sewer system, but these are costly and very difficult to install where the population is strung out along a lake shore or river. Where there is concentrated population a centralized system is essential.

Protective codes can slow down the rate of nutrient infiltration by giving guide lines for lot size and drainage field construction.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

John Stephan's Letter continues —

Our missionary, Floyd Hurshman came down Thursday and I took him moose hunting up the Moose River by canoe. We paddled into some of the back country and as we were doing some hunting on a ridge near the river I spotted a bull. He was about 25 yards ahead of us. I told Floyd, "there's your moose, shoot him in the head." The gun shot a bit high at close range and the bullet shot one of the antlers off right at the base of it. The moose stood there either dazed or confused so I told Floyd to shoot again for the head. This time he shot the other antler off at the same level. This time the critter turned and ran a couple of steps toward us either in bewilderment or in anticipation to charge. The next shot landed behind the ear breaking the beast's neck, putting him down in his tracks. It was a small, 400 pound bull so we were able to take it out in the canoe all in one load with about four inches of free board left. The first steaks of the season are good and tender. Wish you could all share in them.

This letter has over extended itself, but it has been quite some time since I've written.

Sunday, we are going to begin having regular church services in this area. We will need your prayers.

Work is going fine and I'm still renting canoes. Jeff can tell you all about that. Last night when I went outside, the Northern lights were directly over head in the greatest display I have ever seen. For a few moments as it drifted exactly above this area I could see only the bottom edge which was a violet line that lashed like a long whip back and forth. As it drifted on North I could see the pale green curtain with graduation of color to the lower edge of violet, whispering like a sheet in the wind or a long bolt of cloth curling back and forth across the sky. It even seemed to have a sound like a very high voltage electric wire.

This is all for now in the way of news and story.

Now I send my love and my prayers to the Great Master in your behalf. And a fuzzle kiss to you all.

Love, John

Bear Tamerlane Bow Sports Many Improvements

There are two Bear Tamerlane bows for 1967. The improved versions of the tournament archer's preferred bow are now available with either traditional Brazilian Rosewood or new laminated Michigan Hardrock Maple (blond).

Improvements are more than skin deep, however. The Tamerlane's limbs have the new exclusive Bear Action Core of cross laminated wood for greater flexibility and accuracy.

Tamerlane comes with built in quick-connect for the new Bear Inertial Stabilizer and may be ordered with a factory installed Bear Premier Bow Sight.

Another innovation in Tamerlane for '67 is a new longer length. Through the use of a new super recurve design, the bow can be enlarged to six feet without making it unwieldy for archers of average height. And, the longer length means better draw angle, even at 28 inches.

The same type of high compression material used in the Bear HC-30 caps the riser back and grip. As with most Bear bows, again this year, the Tamerlane is available in three handle sizes with either regular or pistol grip. Tamerlane comes in draw weights of 25 to 50 pounds.

Bear Tamerlane is priced at $125 or $140 with premier bowsight factory installed.

Cancer Cures Increasing In Local Area

(Special to the Avalanche)

NEW YORK — The extent of the cancer problem in Crawford County compared with what it is in other parts of the country, is brought out in a new government report.

The data, compiled by the U. S. Public Health Service, shows that considerable progress is being made toward eventual control and eradication of the disease and that, as a result, many lives are now being saved.

The air of optimism, based on recent developments, was echoed at the recent International Cancer Congress in Tokyo, which was attended by 4,000 researchers from 60 countries.

The toll remains high, however, exceeded only by the loss caused by heart disease.

Among residents of Crawford County, the cancer mortality rate is somewhat lower than in most sections of the United States.

Locally, there were 6 cancer deaths in the year ending January 1, 1965, according to the report. This does not include deaths of non-residents in the area.

It was equivalent to a rate of 118 cancer deaths per 100,000 population, as compared with 148 per 100,000 throughout the nation as a whole. In the State of Michigan the rate is 146.

Had it not been for lung cancer, which kept the mortality figures high with a 31 per cent increase in a period of five years, the picture would look much brighter.

Nationally, despite the publicity that has been given to the linkage between cigarette smoking and lung cancer, relatively few people have given up the habit. Older people have cut back somewhat but those in the younger age groups have increased their consumption.

The official figures show that lung cancer caused 17.0 per cent of all cancer deaths in the United States and 17.3 per cent in Michigan.

In Crawford County, in the year, it was responsible for none of them.

An encouraging note in the war against cancer is sounded by Dr. Charles Huggins of the University of Chicago, who states: "The keys to control cancer appear close at hand. There's a new stir of optimism among researchers. They even speak hopefully of vaccines and pills to prevent or cure human cancer."

Attend The Church Of Your Choice

Secure in LOVE

Kathy is secure in her mother's love. Trust and peace gleam in her eyes. Happiness and hope shine in her face.

But Kathy has her heartaches. She falls and skins her knee. Or she loses her favorite dolly. And then her eyes are flooded with tears.

Mommy is always there to help. The knee is bandaged and kissed. The dolly is found. As Mommy's arm slips around Kathy, the tears are dried.

Kathy is secure in her mother's love.

When Kathy grows older her mother will not be able to love away the adult heartaches. But Kathy can turn to God. Her mother's love is but an echo of the Heavenly Father's love for His children.

In faith and prayer, Kathy can find His all-sufficient help and feel beneath her His Everlasting Arms.

The Church guides you to God. You can discover your destiny as His child. You can be secure in divine love.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL
ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.
